FUTURE OF SUN AND MOON.

Present Solar System May Become Compact Mass of Cold and Dead Bodies.

The alterations now occurring in the distribution of the solar system have led Prof. George Darwin, says Harper's Magazine, to predict that the moon will ultimately return to the earth which gave her sudden birth so many ages before, and it may further be prophesied that the planets and their satellites must ultimately yield to the gravitational influence of our dying sun and must return to the bosom of their parent. We must conceive of the solar system of to-day, then, as gathered into one central mass, closely aggregated around that point which, from the beginning, has constituted its center of gravity. And what will be the stage of this shrunken object? It will be a dark star, a dead sun. There are myriads such in the heavens. Sir Robert Ball has said that to count all the bright stars that we can see and say "these are all there are," would be like counting the red-hot horseshoes in England and saying: "This is the total number." This dark to-be will therefore be just as such another as millions more. There will be no life upon it. We cannot conceive the terror of its cold, for the nebula has been dissipating energy, in the form of light and heat, into the chilly depths of intersidereal space ever since the first hour of its long-aeval shrinkage.

What is the destiny of this dead sun among whose constituent atoms, remember, will be those in the printer's ink before your eyes and those in the eyes themselves? Are they forever "stable in desolation," as Stevenson has it—to be borne onward through infinite space? No; this shriveled globe, the common tomb of sun and earth and Mars and of the bodies of the great that once breathed thereon, may live again. Give it but the consuming embrace of such another voyage and in a moment a new nebula will be born. The force of their impact will suffice to evaporate their substance into another cloud which will repeat the history of the old. The path of the two dead suns will determine the position of the "principal plane" which will form the ground plane of the new system.

MAKES UNCONSCIOUS PUN.

Boy Explains Extraordinary Treatment of Doll to Mother in Oracular Words.

A four-year-old West Philadelphia boy has a rag doll sailor, to which, ever since the Russian-Japanese war opened, he has accorded a place of honor among his most cherished possessions under the name of "Middy." This same young hopeful, relates the Philadelphia Record, has recently been a keen student of the Old Testament through the medium of the "Story of the Bible," which his mother has been reading to him, and because there is much war and fighting in the history he remembers a great deal of it.

The other day, when the boy was quiet longer than even a Bible student of that age is apt to be, his mother thought she would look him up and see what mischief he was at. Sure enough, she found him in the dining-room with "Middy." He was holding the doll over a large plate with one hand, while with the other he was pouring salad oil on its head out of a bottle. Of course, the puzzled mother asked for an explanation, and it is not probable that the youngster had any idea of a pun in his reply: "Oh, I am anointing Middy with oil to make him a Midianite, so he can cross the Japanese sea."

Eskimo Appetite.

The Eskimos have enormous appetites. An arctic explorer relates that he saw a boy eat ten pounds of solid food and drink a gallon and a half of liquid with much gusto. This same explorer observed an adult eat ten pounds of meat and two candles at a meal. Sir P. Phillips tells how a lad of 17 years ate 24 pounds of beef in 24 hours.

NEW EMBALMING LAW

Only Licensed Embalmers Can Practice Embalming After September 1st.

The last session of the Legislature passed a law to govern embalming and as regards persons engaged in or practicing embalming, the law becomes effective after the first day of September, 1904; it being unlawful for anyone to embalm human bodies after that date without license.

The new law provides that the Governor shall appoint a board of five members to be known as the State Board of Embalming of Kentucky and whose duties shall be to hold annual meetings, at least, to notify undertakers of such meetings, to receive applications for license to practice embalming and at the annual meeting to examine all applicants.

Section 7 of the law states: No person shall be granted a license who is not 21 years of age and has not practiced embalming dead human bodies for at least three years or had three years practical instruction.

The examination fee is $5 and the annual renewal fee is $2.

This act does not apply to persons engaged simply in the furnishing of burial receptacles for the dead.

A CASE OF IT.

Many More Like It in Hopkinsville.

The following case is but one of many similar occurring daily in Hopkinsville. It is very easy to verify its correctness. Surely you cannot ask for better proof than such conclusive evidence.

J. B. Cravens, blacksmith, of 320 West 19th street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills practically gave me a new back. For three or four years a kidney trouble had caused me the most constant and severe aches and pains through my back and compelled me to constantly complain in more than one way. When arising in the morning I felt sore and lame and had to make a great effort to dress myself. The trouble grew worse and a weakness of the kidneys set in which caused me a great deal of annoyance. Willing to try most anything I purchased Doan's Kidney Pills as soon as I saw them advertised locally and got a box at Thomas & Trahern's drug store, and the trouble with the kidney secretions is much relieved. The experiment has given me a great deal of faith in Doan's Kidney Pills.
